Dear Shacklewell Families,

Update and Summer 2 Calendar Dates

This term at Shacklewell has been very successful. The children have continued to apply themselves in their learning-making great progress as a result. The parent consultations this week were a really special opportunity for you all to speak with the teachers and examine your children's work. We have also been able to celebrate our learning with visitors from across Europe, showcasing our innovative use of technology to colleagues from Poland and Norway.

A real highlight for me this half term has been the increase in parent voice in the school. The refreshed parent council was incredibly well attended and you can see from the minutes that it was a robust and purposeful meeting. The recent parent questionnaire was another opportunity for families to share their thoughts. In the new term I will be writing to you all to share the actions we have taken based on the results of the survey. Shacklewell remains an excellent place for children to thrive because, as a community, we communicate openly about all aspects of school life. This approach leads to reflection, understanding and growth and I look forward to the next parent council meeting on the 19th May at 9.00am.

Whilst the weather may not be demonstrating it, the next half term is summer 1- hopefully things will have brightened up by the time we return to school. Please click the links to see the knowledge organisers, curriculum leaflets, home learning and timetables for your child's year group.
