Dear Parents/Carers,

This is a brief note to inform you that we had a few cases of children being absent from the school with chickenpox.

If you think that your child has chickenpox, please take him or her to the GP.

Your child should stay at home until all of the blisters have fully crusted over, and this usually happens five to seven days after the first blister appears. After the last blister has burst and crusted over, the person is no longer infectious and can return to school.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the office.

Yours sincerely,
